

Doris Williams of Newport makes a motion to adjourn at the September meeting of the CRDC Board of Directors. Doris was away for a lengthy period due to illness and all were happy at her return. Making the motion to adjourn has been Doris's "duty" and it was good to have her back.

The plans for the new administration facility to be constructed in Jonesboro were reviewed by the contracting agency at a recent CRDC meeting of the board of directors. The plans are complete and were awaiting approval from state sources when this photo was taken.

Robert Wilford (standing at podium) addresses the Marked Tree Lions Club during a recent meeting of the organization in the Poinsett County community. Wilford gave a brief overview of the many offerings of CRDC and its contributions to the communities it serves.

It was a huge gathering when all of CRDC's staff joined for the agency-wide meeting in Jonesboro. Fun, food and fellowship highlighted the annual gathering.

Taking part in the Weatherization conference in Hot Springs were (l to r) James Daniels, Ron Martin, Ashley Bowie, Robert Wilford, Kenny Gunn and John Griffith.

A strong contingency of CRDC board members and staff was joined by representatives of Jonesboro and Craighead County organizations, Chamber of Commerce and guests for the groundbreaking ceremony at the site of the proposed new administration building.

A youngster looks on as her mother completes the paperwork for a Morgan Nick Alert photo. The family services crew is doing more and more of these events.

This is just one small group of a large contingency at Paragould for a TONE-sponsored meth summit. Sessions were held in Forrest City and Jonesboro, as well.

It was hectic at times as parents and children came to take advantage of the Supply Our Schools program, but the CRDC Human Services staff was up to the challenge.

Fran Gillins and Marla Davis (standing from left) explain the progress being made on the construction of new apartments underway in Jonesboro.

A Jonesboro dentist conducts an examination on an area youth during the Supply Our Schools distribution day activities in Jonesboro. Local dentists donated their time for the event.

From left, Micheale Richardson, Judy Tackett, Robert Wilford and Sheila Gladney take time to pose for a picture during a break at the annual State Head Start Conference held in Little Rock.

CRDC staffers join with their peers from Arkansas and several other states during the annual LISC Conference at Tunica, Mississippi.