

Edith Holland (center) received special recognition at the November board meeting. She is shown with Robert Wilford (left), executive director, and board president Martin Buchman.

Robert Wilford (second from left) and CRDC board members (l to r) Tony Bailey, Martin Buchman and Gerald Jackson listen to comments during the annual joint training session in Jonesboro. Board members and Head Start policy council members were present for the training.

It was a wild and fun time when Aging Services brought a large group of seniors together at the Forrest City Senior Center. The holiday event proved a real hit with the older customers who enjoyed a great meal and lots of fun.

Robert Wilford (standing, left), CRDC executive director, welcomes Weatherization staffers from throughout the state to the training program at the agency's Weatherization facility in Jonesboro.

The annual joint training for the CRDC board and the Head Start policy council was very well attended and much information was exchanged.

Allen Orr, a CRDC rental housing staff member, presents a segment of the Weatherization training program attended by Weatherization staffers from throughout Arkansas.

It was loud, boisterous and fun as hundreds of teenagers from Northeast Arkansas and Southeast Missouri gathered for the big TONE conference co-sponsored by CRDC.

Larry Palmer (standing, left), Office of Community Services trainer from Little Rock, makes a point during the statewide Weatherization gathering in Jonesboro.

A large crowd turned out for the big Thanksgiving luncheon at the Marmaduke Community Center.

James Daniels (left), CRDC Weatherization coordinator, and Robert Wilford (right), executive director, pose with Arkansas Gov. Mike Huckabee following the governor's proclamation of November 4 as Weatherization Day.

David Burnette of Entergy (second from right) presents a check for $500 to Ashley Bowie, housing transition manager, as Kenny Gunn (left), construction supervisor, and Robert Wilford, executive director, look on.

Marca Nichols (left) and Dicky Joe Wilson, human services staffers at the Augusta center, present Brandy McDonald of Patterson with a Thanksgiving turkey as part of the holiday food program.

Ashley Bowie (left), housing transition manager, pauses to let CRDC employees Allen Orr, Ronald Martin and John Griffith pass during a tour of the new apartment complex under construction by the agency in Jonesboro. The CRDC crew was installing heating and cooling ducts.

From left, Robert Sheard, Cindi Prince, Larry Clements, Ray Jones, Lois Staggs, Charlie Granberry, Tommie McElroy, Hayden Morrison and Robert Wilford prepare to enjoy a holiday breakfast. The Executive Management Team members held a brief meeting prior to getting down to the food and fun.